

FuturaGene Environmental Policy

The policy described below addresses the set of Corporate Responsibility Policies that translates FuturaGene's social role. It was developed from the concept of sustainability which combines social and environmental aspects with the economic aspect in the assessment of the company's performance.

This policy forms an essential part of our management philosophy, whose Vision is "the continuous building of a Company of Excellence which constantly aims for a balance between the creation of value and the dignity of human beings".

With the strong commitment of the top management and our own objectives and goals aligned with our Strategic Plan, FuturaGene will continue to strive for higher standards of excellence based on the best market practices and compliance with the laws, rules and regulations to which the Company is subject.

We believe that sharing this policy and its practices with our stakeholders is extremely important. To this effect, we will keep our communication channels open so as to promote an active dialogue among all.

- Contribute to the country's economic and social development in harmony with environmental preservation through highly efficient and groundbreaking management processes that further strengthen FuturaGene's reputation as an environmentally responsible company;
- Work tirelessly towards pollution prevention from the research phase through the implementation of projects, including installation, operation, marketing and the use of our products;
- Undertake and encourage environmental education actions through a systematic and participative approach, which can foster a cooperative and responsible attitude among our employees, partners and the community we serve;
- Carry out actions that seek the sustainable use of the water, air and soil resources, as well as the biodiversity in areas under the Company's influence;
- Share the management and development of conservation programs and the sustainable handling of natural resources with organized segments of the society.
